Introducing

THE ROMO GROUP

My great grandfather founded Romo at the turn of the 20th century.

His ambition saw the company develop into an accomplished business that, due to the passion and commitment of generations of our family and our loyal employees, has continued to expand and evolve over the years. Growing into an international market leader of designer fabrics, wallcoverings and accessories, the company now has six brands and is renowned for the highest quality of product and design together with an efficient service supported by excellent stock levels.

The future for The Romo Group is one of excitement and innovation. As a team we continue to produce diverse collections of the utmost quality, always keeping the needs of our loyal customers at the forefront of our ambitions.

Jonathan Mould

JONATHAN MOULD
CEO, THE ROMO GROUP

The Romo Group, founded in 1902 by Robert Mould, is a family run business in its fifth generation.

Based in Nottinghamshire, UK, with offices and showrooms in London, Europe and the USA, The Romo Group now has six established brands all of which have their own unique character and style. Each brand has its own in-house design studio creating a diverse range of fabrics, wallcoverings, trimmings and accessories to suit customers' tastes and needs worldwide.

The Romo Group's six brands each have their own unique character and style.

From the beginning

In 1902, Robert Mould, who gave his name to the company, started a small-scale furniture manufacturing business in Nottingham, England.

By the 1930s, the company had become wholesalers to the upholstery industry, supplying furnishing fabrics and components for the manufacture of furniture.

The company continued to evolve until eventually the upholstery manufacturing side of the business ceased completely and the supply of furnishing fabrics became the company's primary focus.

In the 1980s Romo started its own in-house design studio, injecting a more creative approach to design which redefined Romo as the design-led company it is known as today.

Today

The group is now managed by the founder's great grandson, Jonathan Mould, along with his niece Lindsay and children Felicity, Emily and Jordan. With extensive international showrooms and distribution, The Romo Group has over 350 employees and is recognised worldwide, with exports totaling almost 70% of sales. Customer satisfaction and employee welfare are at the core of the company's values, and although much expanded, Romo remains very much a family business.

The Romo Group is dedicated to offering the highest level of customer service.

With our excellent stock levels, fast processing of orders and speed of our transportation partners, our delivery service is one of the most efficient in the industry.

With 250,000 rolls of fabric and wallcoverings kept in stock at our onsite warehouse, the equivalent of 2.4 million metres, we are acknowledged as an industry leader in efficient stock levels.

Our customer service team takes approximately 3,300 enquiries on a daily basis and all orders taken by 2pm are despatched on the same day worldwide. We also offer an excellent sample service sending out over 5,000 fabric and wallpaper samples a day.

The experts in fabrics & wallcoverings.

Our reputation for offering excellent designs and outstanding products is upheld by our in-house teams of talented and experienced designers. Each studio experiments with design through a variety of techniques, as well as creating distinctive colour palettes unique to each brand.

Quality & innovation.

The Romo Group is continually striving to bring innovative fabrics and wallcoverings of the utmost quality to an ever evolving market. Through a close working relationship with carefully chosen expert weavers and printers, our designs are realised using both new and traditional manufacturing techniques, creating high quality fabrics, wallcoverings, trimmings and accessories.

a Diversity of Style.

ROMO

Renowned for its assorted library of classic and contemporary designs and versatile plains, Romo offers a diverse style and timeless elegance enriched with a sophisticated colour palette.

Classic inspiration, timeless design

Generations of experience and distinctive British design are the foundation of the Romo brand. Since establishing its own in-house design studio in the 1980s Romo has continued to grow and is now a market leader in designer fabrics and wallcoverings.

Our talented design team create elegant designs to suit a range of projects from domestic interiors to contract developments.

BLACK edition

Black Edition exclusively designs collections infused with rich, contemporary elegance. Created for the luxury interiors market, Black Edition blends sophisticated textures, innovative weaving techniques and artisan effects with a visionary colour palette.

Fine art fused with innovation

Since launching in 2013, Black Edition has continued to forge its own identity creating designs with a distinctive, edgy style and characteristic colour palette, further establishing itself as a trendsetting brand in the world of high-end interiors.

Black Edition has had huge success with collections such as Astratto and Xanthina as well as the highly acclaimed collaboration with contemporary British artist Jessica Zoob.

DESIGN DIRECTOR

kirkbydesign

With a fresh approach to colour, Kirkby Design offers playful and contemporary designs whilst also providing a selection of innovative plain fabrics making it an ideal brand for interior designers, retailers, furniture manufacturers, and upholsterers to use in both residential and contract specifications.

Injecting a contemporary style and innovative colour palette to upholstery fabrics, Kirkby Design is heading in a bold new direction. Pioneering unique design collaborations, including the recent collaboration with doodle artist Jon Burgerman and successful Underground collection with Transport for London, Kirkby Design also creates distinctive textile collections from its in-house London studio.
